9. Objectives of the Seminar: The seminar deals with Human Health in connection to Dietary fibres. Dietary fiber is defined to be plant components that are not broken down by human digestive enzymes. In the late 20th century, only lignin and some polysaccharides were known to satisfy this definition, but in the early 21st century, resistant starch and oligosaccharides were included as dietary fiber components. Dietary fibre is found in wholegrain cereals and fruit and vegetables. Fibre is made up of the indigestible parts or compounds of plants, which pass relatively unchanged through our stomach and intestines. Fibre is mainly a carbohydrate. The main role of fibre is to keep the digestive system healthy. The Physiological importance in human health includes increasing dietary fiber in an individual's diet is associated with a significant number of health benefits, including reduced risk of constipation, diverticular disease, hemorrhoids, diabetes, obesity, and coronary heart disease. This seminar aimed for the undergraduate students for enhancement of their knowledge as well as making interest in this field of bioscience. This presentation emphasizes The Physiological importance of Dietary fibres in human health. The flyer was displayed in the College common area so that teachers, students from various departments and other institutional staff can join to enjoy the seminar.
10. Outcome of the Seminar: The seminar was completed successfully. The speaker nicely demonstrated his work in front of the audience where he delivered his speech in bilingual manner for the better understanding of the students. The students of semester II and IV from BSc. Bioscience General along with the students from other various Arts departments enjoyed this lecture. Many Teachers were also present along with other staff members. Total 49 participants were present. It was continued for almost 1 and half hour. After the lecture session is over students interacted with the speaker and this interaction session was very much enjoyed by the speaker.

তরুণকালে জ্ঞাতা ও ভগিনী উভয়েই একরূপ নম্র ও সজ্জাশীল থাকে।
কিন্তু ভগিনী উহার জন্য সর্বদা প্রশংসা পায় আর জ্ঞাতা হাস্যাস্পদ হয়।
সেজন্য বয়স প্রাপ্ত হইবার পূর্বেই যুবক উহা কাড়িয়া ফেলে আর যুবতী
যত্নে উহাকে পুষ্টিয়া রাখে। ... দুই জাতি ভিন্ন ভিন্ন অভ্যাসে অভ্যস্ত
হইয়াছে, ভিন্ন প্রকার শিক্ষাদাত করিয়াছে ও ভিন্ন ভিন্ন কাজে উৎসাহ
পাইয়াছে... আর সেই জন্যই তো 'এটা পুরুষের কাজ' 'ওটা নারীর
কাজ' - এইসব কথা ও ধারণা আমাদের মনে বদ্ধমূল হইয়া গিয়াছে।

- Official Invitation Letter: Enclosed
- Official Notification along with Flyer: Enclosed
- Total Number of Participants: 43
- Objectives of the Seminar:
  - To educate students on the significance of travelogue in writing history.
  - To introduce them to the concept of female gaze in narrative.
  - To describe them the contribution of the travelogue by Krishnabhamini Das .
- Outcome of the Seminar: The session was very engaging. It gave them wider knowledge of travelogue as a genre of writing and how personal accounts became an important tool in writing history. It helps them understand the difference between male and female gazes in narrating accounts. They understood the importance of the travelogue by Krishnabhabini Das, which helped them to draw a comparative analysis between the changing socio-cultural contexts of India and Britan. Further, it gave some ideas about the future scope of research in this area.

Objectives of the Seminar:

The objective of self-defense is to protect oneself from harm or danger in situations where one's safety or well-being is threatened. This can include physical attacks, verbal threats, or any form of aggression. The goal is to use necessary force to neutralize the threat and escape the situation safely.

Martial arts can be a valuable tool for self-defense as they provide training in techniques for both offensive and defensive maneuvers. The use of martial arts in self-defense aims to develop skills such as striking, grappling, and leverage to effectively protect oneself from physical harm. Additionally, martial art training often emphasizes discipline, focus, and situational awareness, which can be crucial in dangerous situations. However, it's important to remember that the effectiveness of martial arts in self-defense depends on various factors, including the individual's skill level, physical condition, and the specific circumstances of the encounter.

Self-defense training can be a powerful tool for women's empowerment in several ways:

1. Physical empowerment: Learning self-defense techniques gives women the physical skills and confidence to defend themselves if they are ever in a threatening situation. This can help women feel more empowered and in control of their own safety.
2. Emotional empowerment: Self-defense training can also boost self-esteem and confidence. Knowing that they have the ability to protect themselves can help women feel stronger and more assertive in all areas of their lives.
3. Assertiveness and boundary-setting: Self-defense training often includes assertiveness training, teaching women how to set and enforce boundaries. This can be valuable in both personal and professional settings, helping women stand up for themselves and assert their rights.
4. Community building: Many self-defense classes create a supportive community where women can connect with others who share their experiences and concerns. This sense of solidarity can be empowering and help women feel less alone in their struggles.
5. Changing societal norms: By promoting the idea that women have the right to defend themselves against violence, self-defense training can help challenge traditional gender roles and societal attitudes that perpetuate violence against women.

Overall, self-defense training can play a vital role in empowering women to take control of their own safety and well-being, both on an individual level and as part of broader efforts to promote gender equality and combat violence against women.

Outcome of the Seminar:

There are several career opportunities available in the field of self-defense:

1. Self-Defense Instructor: Becoming a self-defense instructor allows you to teach others how to protect themselves. This could involve working at martial arts schools, fitness centers, community centers, or offering private lessons.
2. Personal Trainer: Many personal trainers incorporate self-defense techniques into their training programs, especially for clients interested in improving their overall fitness and self-protection skills.
3. Security Professional: Knowledge of self-defense can be valuable in security-related careers, such as working as a security guard, bodyguard, or in law enforcement.
4. Military or Law Enforcement: Self-defense skills are essential in military and law enforcement professions. Training in martial arts or other self-defense techniques can be beneficial for individuals pursuing careers in these fields.
5. Women's Self-Defense Advocate: Some individuals choose to work specifically in the area of women's self-defense advocacy, providing education, resources, and support to empower women to protect themselves from violence.
6. Corporate Trainer: Companies may hire self-defense instructors to provide workshops or seminars for employees on workplace safety and self-defense techniques.
7. Entrepreneurship: There are opportunities to start your own self-defense training business, offering classes, workshops, and seminars to various groups such as schools, businesses, or community organizations.

Overall, there are diverse career paths available for individuals with expertise in self-defense, ranging from teaching and training to advocacy and security-related roles.

The principles of self-defense typically revolve around a few key concepts:

1. Awareness: Being aware of your surroundings and potential threats is crucial for self-defense. This includes recognizing dangerous situations, assessing potential risks, and staying alert to any signs of danger.

Office of the Principal

JHARGRAM RAJ COLLEGE (GIRLS' WING)

P.O.- Jhargram :: Dist-Jhargram :: PIN-721507 :: Ph: 03221299907

2. Avoidance: Whenever possible, it's best to avoid potentially dangerous situations altogether. This might involve leaving a risky environment, avoiding confrontation, or de-escalating a tense situation through communication or non-violent means.

3. Assertiveness: If avoidance is not possible and a confrontation arises, it's important to assertively communicate your boundaries and intentions. This can involve using confident body language, setting verbal boundaries, and assertively asserting your right to safety.

4. Proportionality: Self-defense techniques should be proportionate to the threat posed. This means using only the amount of force necessary to neutralize the threat and protect yourself from harm. Overreacting or using excessive force can escalate the situation and potentially lead to legal consequences.

5. Escape: The primary goal of self-defense is to escape from the dangerous situation safely. This may involve using physical techniques to create distance between yourself and the threat, finding an opportunity to flee, or seeking help from others.

6. Training and Preparation: Regular training and practice are essential for effective self-defense. This includes learning and mastering techniques for both physical defense and situational awareness, as well as maintaining physical fitness and mental readiness.

By understanding and applying these principles, individuals can better prepare themselves to protect against potential threats and respond effectively in dangerous situations.

9. Objectives of the Seminar: The seminar deals with Environmental Toxicants and Oxidative Stress. Oxidative stress occurs when Reactive Oxygen Species (ROS) production exceeds the buffering capacity of the antioxidant defence systems, leading to cellular and molecular abnormalities. Oxidative stress can also occur endogenously within an organism due to organic chemicals derived from the environment. This entry focuses on oxidative stress within living organisms, recognizing that the environmental exposures causing oxidative stress in an organism are highly variable. Toxicant exposure-induced oxidative stress can directly affect lipid, protein, and DNA. Subsequently, several corresponding cell survival and death pathways are also activated, which pose a significant impact on carcinogenesis. This seminar aimed for the undergraduate students for enhancement of their knowledge as well as making interest in this field of bioscience. This presentation emphasizes The role of environmental toxicants in oxidative stress mediated damages. The flyer was displayed in the College common area so that teachers, students from various departments and other institutional staff can join to enjoy the seminar.
10. Outcome of the Seminar: The seminar was completed successfully. The speaker nicely demonstrated her invention in front of the audience where she delivered her speech in bilingual manner for the better understanding of the students. The students of semester I, III and V from BSc. Bioscience General along with the students form other various Arts departments enjoyed this lecture. Many Teachers were also

- Official Invitation Letter: Enclosed
- Official Notification along with Flyer: Enclosed
- Total Number of Participants: 31
- Objectives of the Seminar:
  - To keep in forefront a detailed account of Human Rights that is also in their CBCS curriculum.
  - To educate students on the significance of Human Rights.
  - To introduce them to the contemporary issues relating to Human Rights.
  - To make the students aware of the human rights that are often overlooked in the mainstream.
  - To raise students' awareness of further research in this area.
  - To enlighten them in the area of Human Rights of the Third Gender Under Indian Constitution & Interrogating Sexuality and Disability in the Human Rights' Context.
- Outcome of the Seminar: It was a truly engaging session. Students were exposed to a wide range of recent study and findings that are not included in their curriculum. Through Professor Sujan Pramanik's in-depth presentation, students learned about the Human Rights' of the Third Gender people that is often overlooked in the mainstream study. Professor Pramanik along with a lucid presentation suggested a number of movies based on the topic. The students were fascinated and showed interest in watching them. From Dr. Debarati Chakraborty's presentation, students came to know about the fact that sexuality and sexual concerns for people with disabilities have been disregarded by our society. This is a blow to Human Rights. The discussion in this seminar led to a pertinent question whether the relevance of sexuality rights in relation to disability is real or a myth? The answer to this demands further research and discussions.

SL NO.		DETAILS
1	SEMINAR DATE	6 th February, 2023, Monday
2	SEMINAR TITLE	“Memory and Narrative in English Literature”
3	VENUE AND TIME	College Auditorium, 10 AM - 12 PM
4	RESOURCE PERSON	Prof. Srimoyee Roy, Assistant Professor, Department Of English, Yogada Satsanga Palpara Mahavidyalaya  Ph:8897145401 E-mail ID: srimoyeer2013@gmail.com
5	OFFICIAL INVITATION LETTER	Enclosed
6	OFFICIAL NOTIFICATION ALONG WITH FLYER	Enclosed
7	TOTAL NUMBER OF PARTICIPANTS	40
8	OBJECTIVES OF THE SEMINAR	This seminar is intended to introduce the students to the field of Memory Studies which, although an interdisciplinary project, engages uniquely with the discipline of Literature. The process of remembering, forgetting and artificially re-creating narratives from partial memory has been an object of interest for many scholars in recent times. The reliability of these perspectives, the history of Racial, Cultural and Social Memory, the genres of memoirs and autobiographies will be elaborated upon by the resource person. Students would also be captivated to take up further studies and investigations into the subject, the scope for which is massive at both the national and international level. The flyer shall be circulated at the college level so that students and faculty members from across departments may be able to attend the seminar according to their need and convenience.
9	OUTCOME OF THE SEMINAR	It was a thoroughly engaging session for both the students and the faculty members of the college. They were exposed to a set of texts and a body of Literature they had very little idea about earlier. The interactive session at the end of the talk was also a thought-provoking one where the observations made by certain students proved their insightful knack towards Literature and their openness to explore new areas of research. The seminar was a grand success.

Report of the Seminar

- Seminar Date: 06.02.2023
- Seminar Title: Various Aspects of Vedic Literature
- Date and Time: 06.02.2023 (Monday) 1.30 pm.
- Venue: College Auditorium
- Resource Person: Prof. Dr. Mou Dasgupta, Professor, Department of Sanskrit, University of Calcutta.
Contact Number: 9681575474. Email ID: mou.dasgupta7@gmail.com
- Official Invitation Letter: Enclosed
- Official Notification along with Flyer: Enclosed
- Total Number of Participants: 185
- Objectives of the Seminar: The seminar will give an overview of the Vedic Literature. The different types of Vedic hymns will be discussed to understand how the monarchical system used to be in the Vedic period. A comparative analysis will be drawn between the philosophies of Sankaracharya and the Srouta Karma-kanda. Along with this, the status of women in the Vedic literature will also be discussed in the seminar.
- Outcome of the Seminar: The seminar was a success as it helped the students to be aware about the socio-political scenario in the Vedic period. The students had a vivid portrayal of the monarchical system and the ways of ruling an empire during the Vedic period. The students became aware how people can attain moksha or liberation from the material world by Nishkam Karma. The students understood about the social status of the women in the Vedic period, where women seers used to help frame the Vedic mantras though they were not given the right to chant the Vedic mantras; they could learn warfare skills; and they had their own property rights. The seminar helped the students to delve deeper into the topic related to Vedic literature and helped to embark on the path of research related to this topic.

- Objectives of the Seminar: Even though Gandhi has received the most scholarship in contemporary India, fresh works and perspectives have entered the conversation because of its applicability. With this in mind, the seminar seeks to discuss one significant facet of Gandhi that is very pertinent in the contemporary context. It will make students aware of fresh, largely unexplored viewpoints on Gandhi's beliefs and conceptions on the environment.
- Outcome of the Seminar: The students benefited much from the workshop.
  - They were familiar with various facets of Gandhian ideology and thought.
  - They learned about Gandhi's environmental consciousness.
  - Gain some insights into upcoming studies and the range of topics to be researched on Gandhi.

SL NO.		DETAILS
1	SEMINAR DATE	23 rd February, 2023, Thursday
2	SEMINAR TITLE	“The Aesthetic Element in English Literature”
3	VENUE AND TIME	Google Meet, 2 PM – 4 PM

5	OFFICIAL INVITATION LETTER	Enclosed
6	OFFICIAL NOTIFICATION ALONG WITH FLYER	Enclosed
7	TOTAL NUMBER OF PARTICIPANTS
8	OBJECTIVES OF THE SEMINAR	This seminar has been organised with the aim of introducing the students to the Aesthetic Movement and the infiltration of the ideals of Aestheticism into not just Literature but also, primarily Art, and secondarily Music, Fashion, Architecture and so on. Starting with the philosophical basis of the study of Aesthetics (sublime, experience, beauty, etc) to the responses (both emotional and sensory) as recorded in Literature, primarily Romantic and Victorian and paving the way for Modern and Post-Modern forms. This seminar is also meant to be of use to those students of Literature who have crossed the beginner level but are looking forward to honing their ideas regarding Aesthetic expression in Literature further. The target audience consists mainly of the students of the department of English, both present batches and past ones. However, students and teachers from other departments would also benefit from this seminar as it would grant them inroads into multi-disciplinary research and transdisciplinary scope of further studies. The resource person shall be requested to deliver the talk bilingually so that it is convenient for the students. The flyer shall be circulated at the college level across departments so that students and teachers may be able to attend the seminar according to their need and convenience.
9	OUTCOME OF THE SEMINAR	The seminar was a truly enlightening and interesting one. The resource person used a plethora of interesting slides which captivated the students' attention and enlightened them regarding such areas of Art, Architecture and Philosophy which they had little exposure to earlier. Students and faculty members from different departments of the college attended the seminar. There was an interactive session at the end of the seminar which helped generate even further discussions on the topic. From this session we were offered with suggestions to organise certain Certificate or Value-Added Courses on Western Art as we found a number of willing students for the same. The department shall discuss this further with faculty members of other departments and the principal to reach a consensus regarding the above.

PLATO'S CONCEPTION OF FORMS AND THINGS

The diagram illustrates Plato's theory of forms. At the top, 'Form of Good' is the highest form. Below it are 'Form of Table', 'Form of Justice', and 'Form of Cat'. Under 'Form of Table' are 'Coffee Table' and 'Dining Table'. Under 'Form of Justice' are 'Constitution', 'Bill of Rights', and 'Nuremberg Trials'. Under 'Form of Cat' are 'Gulliver' and 'Hoover'. A quote at the bottom states: "THE THEORY OF FORMS IS THE BELIEF IN A TRANSCENDENT WORLD OF ETHERNAL AND ABSOLUTE BEINGS, CORRESPONDING TO EVERY KIND OF THING THAT THERE IS, AND CAUSING THEIR ESSENTIAL NATURE."

Report of the Seminar

- Seminar Date: March 11, 2023
- Seminar Title: Research Methods in the Study of Politics
- Date and Time: 11.03.2023 (Saturday) 11 AM onwards.
- Venue: College Auditorium
- Resource Persons:

- Official Invitation Letter: Enclosed
- Official Notification along with Flyer: Enclosed
- Total Number of Participants: 28
- Objectives of the Seminar: Scientific and logical understanding of the world has been a long quest for social science. The two pillars of science are logic and observation. Three major aspects of this enterprise in social science are theory, data collection and data analysis. Data collection covers the observational aspect of any kind of research while data analysis looks for patterns in observations for conclusive interpretations of reality. The objective of the seminar was to enlighten the students on the purpose and importance of social research. Special focus was aimed at survey as a descriptive, explanatory and exploratory tool of social research. The intention was to guide the students on the various modalities of carrying out surveys in their surroundings and the types of surveys that they can attempt. The broader goal was not just to make them good social researchers but also good respondents when faced with survey questions from government or non-government sources.
- Outcome of the Seminar: The seminar was conducted by the professors of the department of Sociology who chaired the sessions and conducted the interactive session with the students as well.

P.O.- Jhargram :: Dist-Jhargram :: PIN-721507 :: Ph: 03221299907

The first speaker Prof. Kingshuk Panda of the department of Political Science, Sankrail ABS Mahavidyalaya discussed in detail the types and methods of survey research. He provided daily life examples especially those applicable to this region with which students can associate easily. He displayed demo questionnaires, both open ended and closed, for different types of interviews that can be conducted like face to face, telephonic etc. He also highlighted the problems the students can face especially while conducting surveys on political questions and how a purely quantitative approach can be purposively defeating for social research and how the human element of social science research has to be kept in mind. The second speaker Prof. Mainak Putatunda of the department of Political Science, Hooghly Mohsin College highlighted the importance of ethnographic studies in social science research. Ethnography is defined most acceptably as a study of lived experiences and the interactions between moments of happenings in the society and polity which can be interpreted and collated into usable data for social scientists including political scientists. Since ethnography is mostly observatory and highly interpretative, it is flexible to a great extent to accommodate inputs which can't be ordinarily gathered through means of survey, questionnaire or archival study. Given the area the students hail from and the nature of issues therein ethnographic approach is actually helpful in grasping the nature of problems faced by them. The esteemed speaker also highlighted the difficulties of such research keeping politics in the wider social context in mind. Both the sessions seemed to have generated interest among the students and will prove helpful in the long run both academically and otherwise.

Report of the Seminar

Session: 2022-2023

- Seminar Date: 15.03.2023
- Seminar Title: Exploring the Changing Human Relationship through the Innovative Lens of Satyajit Ray: A Sociological Analysis of Ray's Films
- Date and Time: 15.03.2023 (Wednesday) 12 pm
- Venue: Seminar Hall, JRCGW
- Resource Person: Ms. Amrita Gupta, Assistant Professor in Vidyasagar University, Department of Sociology, Vidyasagar University, West Bengal, Pin- 721102, India; Contact Number: 9836154159; Email ID: gupta.amrita.12@gmail.com
- Official Invitation Letter: Shared with the Speaker
- Official Notification along with Flyer: Enclosed
- Total Number of Participants: 68: Teachers-10; Students-58
- Objectives of the Seminar:

The research seminar following a particular methodology addressed a few objectives. The seminar examined how films can play a role in research beyond its meagre entertainment value. It serves as a field of research portraying the social matrix that encompasses the structures, social roles, institutions, and behavioural patterns. The research talk followed an interesting methodology as it stressed on film as a field of research to grapple with the complex human relationships. The research seminar sought to identify the changes in social elements that influence and shape intergenerational relationships. The talk also addressed the generational understanding on social change.

- Outcome of the Seminar:

The research-based seminar drew on films and technology as the tools of research. The seminar impressed upon the students the role of technology and innovation in research. The talk drawing on research thus facilitated the students to understand the connection between the complexities of human relationship and social change.

Respected Sir,

Namaskars!

As you are aware, in shaping our freedom struggle and in building modern India, Swami Vivekananda's contribution is well documented. He is acknowledged as the 'Father of Indian Nationalism'. Every great leader of India, both past and present, has spoken about the greatness of Vivekananda. To know Swamiji is to know India. He accorded great importance to youth power towards nation-building.

Ramakrishna Mission founded by Swami Vivekananda in 1897 is celebrating 125 years of its service to the World. As part of the world-wide celebrations, Jhargram ashrama will be holding special seminars at all the colleges in the Jhargram district to bring Swamiji's life giving message to the younger generation, centred on the theme: UTTHISTA JAGRATA - ARISE AWAKE A draft program is enclosed with this letter.

We request your kind permission to organize this program in your college at a suitable date, preferably in March 2023. Swami Brahmeshwarananda (Mukteshwar Mj) will discuss with you and finalise the details.

Seeking your support and cooperation,

Yours sincerely,

(Swami Vedapurushananda)

Report of the Seminar

Session: 2022-2023

- Seminar Date: 31.03.2023
- Seminar Title: UTTHISTA JAGRATA
- Date and Time: 31.03.2023 (Friday) 12 pm
- Venue: Seminar Hall, JRCGW
- Resource Person: Ms Nibedita Debnath, Assistant Professor in Philosophy, Department of Sociology, Jhargram Raj College (Girls' Wing), West Bengal, Pin- 721507, India; Contact Number: 9831823063; Email ID: itsme.ankhi10@gmail.com;
- Official Invitation Letter:
- Official Notification along with Flyer: Completed
- Total Number of Participants:
- Objectives of the Seminar: The seminar addressed a few objectives: First, enlighten and educate the students about Uthishtata Jagrata, Prapya Varanibodhata (Arise, awake, and stop not till the goal is reached), a slogan popularized in the late 19th century by Swami Vivekananda. It was his message to the world to get out of their hypnotized state of mind. The sleeping condition, called kāla-sarpa (the time factor), keeps the conditioned soul in a state of ignorance, and therefore pure consciousness is lost. Second, the motivational talk was to enthuse the students on the path of selfless service. The lecture emphasized the fact that there are only "things as they are." This frees us from the bondage of suffering because there is no expectation of how things should or shouldn't be.
- Outcome of the Seminar: The seminar drew on the Upanishad and Bhagavad Gita. The motivational lecture impressed upon the students the meaning and relevance of the Hindu texts in the lives of students. The classical texts imparted life lessons and showed how students can still draw inspiration from the Upanishads and Gita to perform, succeed, and accomplish in life. The talk thereby facilitated the students to understand the connection between texts and lived experience and how lives can be enriched by following the philosophy of Karma Yoga.

8	OBJECTIVES OF THE SEMINAR	The objective of the seminar is to achieve a gendered understanding of Indian Classical literature, especially with major and minor female figures from the Indian Epic tradition, while engaging with the concept of Dharma and heroism in Indian Classical Drama. Students and teachers across all departments were invited to engage with and discuss female characters, known and lesser known, from Ramayana and Mahabharata and other classical texts.
9	OUTCOME OF THE SEMINAR	Students and faculty members across all departments attended the seminar and made it a great success. Audience engagement was overwhelming given the topic was Indian Epics, and hence could be approached through various perspectives such as historical, philosophical, sociological et al. The question-answer session at the end of the seminar was beneficial to students of all batches who asked several less addressed questions to clarify their doubts on the Indian epic tradition. The feedback collected from the participants provided the department several ideas regarding topics for future departmental seminars.

8	OBJECTIVES OF THE SEMINAR	The objective of the seminar is to introduce the students to Epic Theatre which aimed at inducing political and social change in the twentieth century. By alienating the audience, this theatrical form encouraged them to think objectively and acted as a reaction against other forms of theatre. The seminar aims to highlight these aspects of Epic Theatre and present a clearer understanding of the same for the students.
9	OUTCOME OF THE SEMINAR	The seminar was a success as it not only clarified a lot of concepts regarding Epic Theatre but the students also found it engaging. Understanding the socio-historical context of Epic Theatre increased their interest and their questions during the Q&A session proved the same.
